"What greater or better gift

can we offer the republic

than to teach and instruct our youth."

Cicero

And when the stream
Which overflowed the soul was passed away,
A consciousness remained that it had left,
Deposited upon the silent shore of memory,
Images and precious thoughts,
That shall not die, and cannot be destroyed.

...William Wordsworth

And so it is with us! Desiring to recapture and perpetuate precious thoughts and images of school work and play, we have gathered these pages of prose and pictures. Like the sentiment expressed by the poet, we are not willing that such fond memories should die.

Those images which sink deepest are often those which we scarcely know, at the moment of their imprint, that we are noticing at all. So it is with our experiences in school – with those thrills, vivid for only an instant. It is also true with words – for there are some which are brilliant, clever, incisive – and mankind is not willing that they should die.

The Reflector staff has chosen to illustrate these images of life and school with many timeless expressions of perpetual voices. The theme of our book – Great Quotations of Mankind – is woven about familiar places and friendly faces. We rest secure in the faith that if our efforts prove insignificant on these pages, at least the wisdom and wit of the ages will not have been rewritten and reread at a loss by our patrons.

Mr. S. Ray Grimm, Jr., Supervising Principal.

Miss Patricia Sass, Secretary to the high school principal.

With the formation of our expanded school system as the result of the jointure, our high school profited in the hiring of a principal, Mr. Elmer Berkebile. Mr. S. Ray Grimm, Jr., our supervising principal, now serving his second year in that position, has been extremely busy in seeing to the smooth operation of an enlarged program. We have, therefore, been fortunate, indeed, to have Mr. Berkebile enter our school and effectively administer our program. Coming to Ferndale after a successful teaching and guidance career at Adams Twp. High School, Mr. Berkebile has been acclaimed by students and faculty for his good beginning as an administrator.

Our office staff has undergone further change with the retirement of our long-time secretary, Miss Wilma Mooney, after 27 years at Ferndale. She has been replaced by Miss Bonnie Ryan, who now serves as secretary to Mr. Grimm, and by Miss Patricia Sass, who works with Mr. Berkebile. Both girls are recent graduates of our high school.

Mr. Elmer Berkebile, High School Principal

Miss Bonnie Ryan, Secretary to the Supervising Principal

The Greater Ferndale School System, formed by a new jointure of four districts, has become operative this year. Each district elects five men to serve on our joint school board. The advantages and improvements in our school system resulting from the jointure are numerous and important. The equal representation of school board members gives each district an opportunity to share in the management and policy making of their schools.

The improvements in our educational program resulting from the jointure include a guidance counselor, a new high school principal with an additional clerk in his office, fine arts for all students from kindergarten through 12th grades, and health and physical education in grades 7 through 12. The schools now render such services as nursing, guidance, home bound instruction, and many extra curricular activities which were not offered before the new contract was drawn up. Many services that were needed for the youth of our community and the local boards of education are now being furnished.

The jointure contract was drawn up on a five year basis with each district sharing in the operation and upkeep of F. H. S., but retaining their own districts' building responsibilities. However, all instructional expenses are included under the administration of the joint board.

Mr. Carl Harrison was elected president of the joint board with Mr. Robert Cowan as vice-president, Mr. Richard Claycomb as treasurer, and Mr. George W. W. Jones as secretary.

And gladly would he learn, and gladly teach.

The Senior Class of 1956 acknowledges sincere respect and deep, personal liking for Mr. Nyle Hershberger. In the two years that he has been teaching in Ferndale, Mr. Hershberger has proven to be a thorough, competent teacher. We believe that he is a man with a future.

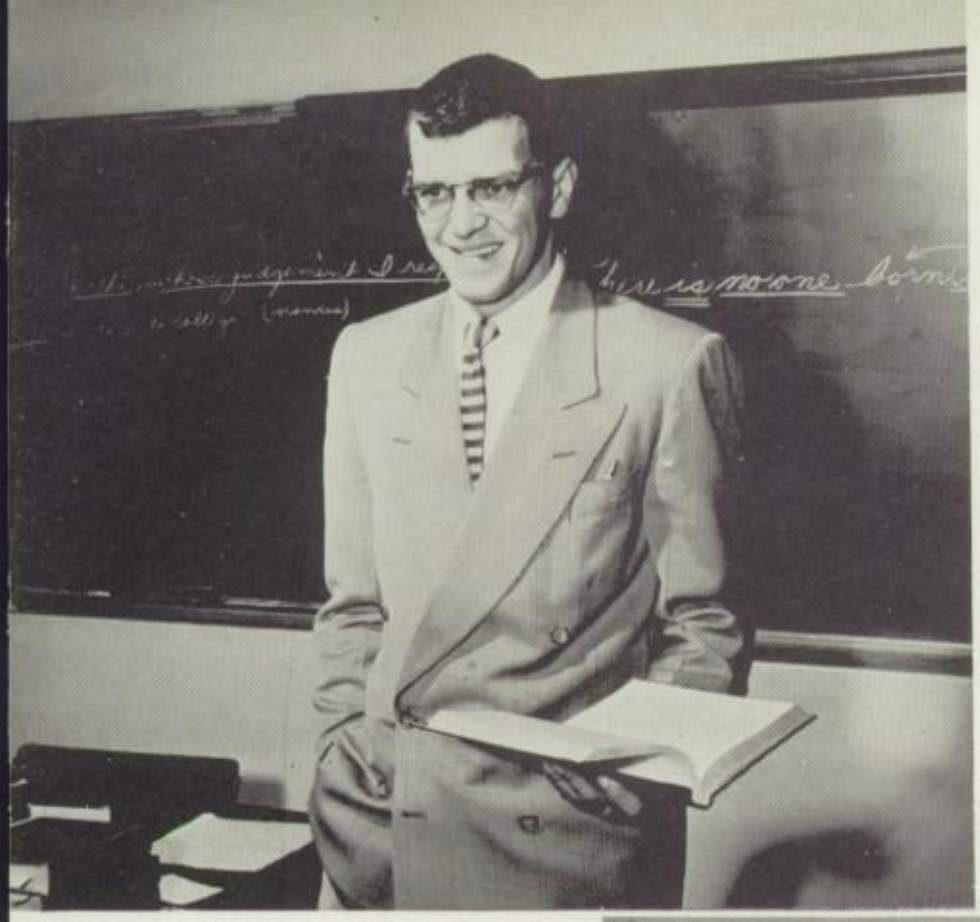
During school hours Mr. Hershberger teaches mathematics. When the school bell sends the students homeward, Mr. Hershberger then spends many hours ably coaching our junior high school boys in basketball and football, or instructing the golf team. His thoughtful advice is also important in his role as advisor for the senior class.

This tribute from his students comes to a man, young in years of experience, but to one who has his heart and soul in the well-being of all of us.

Mr. Hershberger in characteristic poses at work.

Lots of good luck in all that you do Jeannie

Mr Hershberger



Mr. Richard Slick, our new English and problems of democracy teacher.

Dear Jeanie Lots of luck to a swell Pal of mine. I hope you have as much fun as I in your coming years at D. H. S. Be good & yac

Mr. Louis Giusto, our new music maestro, bangs out a lively tune.

Gotta stay out of trouble always remember new curtis & how we pretend to make you make the lot for us.

Keep these few precepts in thy memory;
... Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel ...
Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice;
Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment ...
Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend ...
This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.
Farewell!

The Junior Class, with 77 members, is one of the largest groups in recent years. Their year as Juniors has been a busy and a progressive one, for the class has worked hard, scholastically, athletically, and in extra-curricular activities.

The annual magazine campaign, a class project which provides funds for the Junior-Senior banquet and reception and partially defrays yearbook expenses, was a tremendous success this year. Setting a goal of $3000 in sales, the class actually surpassed this total by $77.16. This determined spirit was gratifying to the entire school. In the campaign, Jack Hoffman and Jane Parkinson proved themselves as top sales personnel.

Other highlights of the year, of course, were the purchases of attractive class rings, and the presentation of a wonderful Prom. Individual members contributed their talents to all school activities.

Particular mention of the exceptionally large honor group seems worthy. Attaining this enviable roll were Barbara Cowan, Pat Baldwin, Mary Jo Burley, Anna Marie Fetsko, Donna Holmok, Edward Janosko, Betty Lanko, Wendell Laposata, Lillian Long, Mary Ann Marcinko, Nancy Pollack, and Donna Swarny.

Jackie Stephey, president; Charlotte Szelazek, secretary; Bob Kurtz, vice president.

Seventy-three Sophomores, comprising the second year students of our high school, entered avidly into numerous school activities. Most important on the list of their achievements was the imposing number of honor students among their membership. Consistently attaining this scholastic feat were Jill James, Richard Nau, Charlotte Szelazek, Judy Drum, Teresa Dugan, John Gander, Lois Garshnick, Judy Kemeny, Bill Krum, Josephine Malisko, Richard Sanker, and Virginia Tomak.

An especially important feature of the 1955-56 year was the first class party sponsored at Ferndale in many years. With President Jackie Stephey as its leader, the class arranged an enjoyable evening of fellowship and festivity. It is hoped this precedent can be adopted by future classes.

Another unique feature instituted by the class was a welfare committee commissioned to send "get well" cards to members who had extended absences.

Class members serving in special activities included Teresa Dugan and Richard Nau, Courier representatives, and Jill James, Reflector staff apprentice. Entering the key club as new initiates were Jerry Cuppett, Richard Sanker, James McCann, Richard Nau, and Bill Krum. Of course, Sophomores served in considerable numbers on cheerleading and majorette squads and in athletic endeavors.

Sophomore Class:

Those who consistently attained honor ratings were Jeanie Grimm and William Gould. Phyllis Tredennick served on the Courier staff and Francis Bagnato was the student photographer for the Reflector. The class was also well represented in our school musical organizations, and many of the boys found their after school hours taken up by Jr. High athletics.

Five girls were Junior Varsity cheerleaders and four girls served as Junior High cheerleaders. The following freshman were student council members: Martha Palmer, Dennis Sabo, James Gindlesperger, Darrell Carney. Sandy, Lumnitzer, and Sam Burkett.

Class talent sponsored a fine assembly in January which was well received by the school.

The ambitious, but at times boisterous eighth grade had the advantage of mixing as a unit before entering high school this year. With 89 students divided into three sections, these kids had the advantage of shop art, music, and gym instruction in their curriculum.

The group produced talented musicians and some fine singing voices for Junior Chorus. Those deserving special mention as the class scholars were: Francis Pilzys, Lois Burkett, Patricia Dudash, Nancy Hockensmith, and Joseph Karas. Although no boys stood out in athletics, the large number of these lads who turned out for Junior High sports gladdened the hearts of the coaching staff.

We know what we are, but we know not

With the formation of our new jointure, namely the Greater Ferndale School System, seventh grade students from all four areas came to our Junior High this year for the first time. There were 88 scared and bewildered youngsters roaming our halls searching for their classes, the library, and the lunchroom early in the year. However, it didn't take them long to learn "the Ferndale policy."

These students have joined enthusiastically in contributing their talents to Junior Chorus, Band, and assembly programs. Many of the boys turned out for Junior High athletics.

Consistent honor students from seventh grade were; Carolyn Brock, Bonnie Shaffer, William Straub, Barbara Barkheimer, Jane Bauder, Victor Bevec, Terry Blue, Diane Brant, Suellen Claycomb, Gail Feight, Audrey Gindlesperger, Carol Jean Gould, Jon James, and Elisha Ann Smith.

The concept of a school as a place solely for books, oratory, and factual learning is now as obsolete as hoop skirts and bustles. Today's schools, instead, are a seething cauldron of activity as extensive as the exertions, talents, and desires of boys and girls. It is, therefore, important that in our study of precious moments of school life, 1955-56, we should devote this section of our book to some of these memory envoking experiences.

Regardless of the leisure time inclinations of our pupils, whether they are athletic, musical, literary, or dramatic, in our co-curricular offerings each person may find an outlet for his preferences. Our school life is made immeasureably more interesting and varied by mass participation in such pursuits.

Men are never so likely to settle a question rightly as when they discuss it freely.

Student council this year was changed from an organization which was virtually inoperative to a practical, functioning body. A new constitution, outlining powers of the group, was drawn up. Ray Dallape served as president this year, chosen by the council. However, Ed Janosko, elected vice-president by the student body, will automatically become president next year.

The council sponsored an exciting Christmas dance, acted as lunch-time monitors, and held regular weekly meetings throughout the year. Each member was presented with a tiny gold pin bearing the emblem of the National Association of Student Councils. Mr. Charles Allison actively sponsored and advised the council.

An open letter to Courier readers:
By Editor Robert Doyle

A school newspaper plays an important role in the life of its students. Not only does it report events and activities, but it features friendships, sports highlights, and special student editorials and essays. It reveals student opinions on issues of vital concern to all.

The Courier staff, made up of 34 members representing every class in our school, has endeavored to maintain high standards of reportorial practice. Offering opportunities for creative writing, straight news reporting, and business practice, the paper has provided an outlet for student abilities and ambitions.

We are proud of our little paper and grateful for the experiences it has provided. The Courier staff and I thank all readers for their kind comments and loyal support throughout this year of publication.

Nancy Koontz, Editor.

Dear Reflector Readers:

We, the Reflector staff, have tried to bring you some representative glimpses of school life at Herndale in 1955-56. These pictures were carefully planned to illustrate events. We hope that you will get as much enjoyment out of looking at them as the staff did in planning them. If in later years you look back and recapture these memorable days, we on the Reflector staff will be well-satisfied.

Sincerely yours,
Nancy Koontz

"A girl for every sport and a sport for every girl." This is the motto of the Girls' Athletic Association. To become a member of G.A.A., a girl must earn fifty points by participating in girl's interclass sports. To be eligible to become an officer, she must have a minimum of seventy-five points. Officers for 1955-56 were Judy Stuver, president; Terrie Weaver, vice-president; Carolyn Blaschak, secretary; and Mary Ann Marcinko, treasurer.

The highest award given in G. A. A. is the club pin, awarded to those earning five-hundred points. A chennile emblem is provided for those girls earning more than one hundred points. The association uses money-making projects to purchase the awards.

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. Sue Higgins, a new addition to our faculty, the club conducted a program of basketball, volleyball, and softball. It was an interesting and successful sport's year.

Admitting many new members at their mid-year initiation, the Ferndale Varsity F Club became one of the largest groups representing letter-winning athletes in years. The initiation ceremonies for the new members was a jolly and interesting affair. Led by president Tom Balog, the club sought to vary proceedings by new activities and methods. As in the past, the boys served as parking attendants and sold candy at the annual P.T.A. minstrel. Other officers were Hildebrand, vice-president; and Ashcom, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Michael continued as F club advisor.

These capable girls efficiently conduct our students to and from the auditorium for assemblies, thus contributing to the smooth functioning of our school program. A few minutes before each assembly the girls go to their assigned stations, ready to see that everyone gets to his seat in an orderly fashion. After each program usherettes are responsible for the tidiness of the auditorium. They also serve as polite escorts at all public functions in our school.

Question: "Where will I find it?" Answer: The library. Question: "Who will help me?" Answer: The librarian.

These "custodians of quotations" can help one find any information needed from the age of George Washington to the theory of the atom. They guide the seventh graders through the maze of borrowing books and the seniors through the perplexities of the Reader's Guide.

Headed by Mrs. Hill, faculty librarian, and Barbara Mosgrave, head librarian, these girls keep books, magazines, and the pamphlet files in order.

The Future Nurse's Club of Ferndale was organized in September, 1955, under the able supervision of our school nurse, Mrs. Ling. In January the writing and approval of the constitution was accomplished. Aside from the regular business meetings, members were given a general idea of what is expected of a student nurse. Present plans include future movies, speakers, and a tour of a hospital. Included in the instruction period was first aid, the metric system, medical spelling and proper making of beds. The club was open to girls from grades 9 to 12 who were interested in the nursing profession.

Prom committee members for the spring

A girl's pep club was organized this year for the purpose of promoting school spirit. "Always peppy" was the motto adopted by the club.

Under the capable leadership of President Marcia Hern and her officers: Barbara Cowan, vice-president; Teresa Dugan, secretary; and Bonnie Ling, treasurer; the pep club put on many snappy routines at the basketball games with their black and yellow shakers.

Membership in the club was attained in the following manner; a girl had to fill out an application form to join the organization; then two of her teachers graded her on such things as self-expression, appearance and cooperation; finally, grades were considered in which the applicant had to maintain a C average in all subjects.

Although it has had but one year to function, the club shows great promise of becoming a worthy addition to our activity program.

This year we had five student teachers from Pennsylvania State University. These beginners, who spent six weeks with us, were nearing the end of their college preparation.

Miss Shirley Callen of Butler did her practice teaching in business education under Mrs. Christensen, while Mr. Ronald Perks did his in the same field under Mrs. Rager. A former Ferndale graduate, Miss Connie Paulakos, worked in girls' physical education classes with Mrs. Higgins and Mr. William Donovan of Tamaqua taught geography in the junior high field with Mr. Lesneski. Mr. Edward Weinberger of Honesdale was guided in science subjects by Mr. Igo.

Representing our school this year were ten baton-twirling beauties who preceeded the band in all football season appearances. Nancy Koontz, serving as head majorette, led the girls in long summer and fall practices which resulted in well-received half-time shows at football games. One special feature was an Indian act performed at the Conemaugh Twp. game.

A new innovation for majorettes was their half-time exhibitions during our home basketball season. The girls demonstrated continued improvement in their technique and crowd-pleasing skits, marking a successful year of service. New uniforms were made for these performances.

Mr. Giusto, music supervisor.

The enlarged 63 member band under the expert direction of our new supervisor of music, Mr. Louis Giusto, performed with distinction throughout the year. Stepping smartly to a snappier cadence, the musicians executed a new "Hi" routine as well as intricate shows at half-time at our football games. The band practiced long and hard, at time remaining after school for special rehearsals.

Led by Ed DaIlape, band president, and Barbara Mosgrave, secretary, the band held a special "tag day" for raising funds to purchase new raincoats. Continued growth and renewed interest have highlighted the instrumental musical ventures of the school this year.

A concert band began rehearsals in January, while a "Pep" band added a musical atmosphere to home basketball games.

The senior mixed chorus was continued this year under the direction of Mr. Louis Giusto, our new music supervisor. Chorus membership was increased to 55 voices, including many more freshmen and sophomores than in former years. A major improvement for choral work was the purchase by the Ferndale P. T. A. of a set of stage risers enabling a convenient seating arrangement.

Uncompleted chorus plans at the time the yearbook goes to press include plans to enter Forensic competition on the district level, with hopes of getting into the state-wide contests. The chorus has been at work on the required Forensic number, "Darlin," an American folksong.

The chorus appeared in a Thanksgiving assembly, while the boy's quartet contributed their vocal talent to assemblies frequently throughout the year. Accompanist for the chorus was Barbara Balog.

The ten-member varsity cheerleading squad, coached this year by Mrs. Sue Higgins, carried on the high standards of cheering which are now traditional at Ferndale. The varsity squad was ably led by Ann Grimaldi, captain, and Terrie Weaver, co-captain. The cheerleaders succeeded in winning fourth place honors in the annual cheerleading contest with their cheer, "Yellow Jacket's Praise." During the year, the girls led the cheers at all football and basketball games and also planned many pep rallies to whip up the enthusiasm of the student body.

There was also a Junior Varsity and Junior High squad which cheered for their respective basketball teams and prepared the girls for future varsity cheering squads.

Loads of luck to a cheerleader girl. Best Wishes Barbara

"Mr. Co-Ed," a comedy in three acts, was the vehicle for senior class dramatic talent this year. The locale of the play was Cedar Hill, an exclusive eastern school for girls. Cedar Hill, however, was so deeply in debt that even the ivy on the hallowed walls was mortgaged.

The story revolved around the desperate need to convince Mrs. Cobina Colgate-Brewster, a rich but eccentric trustee, that she should contribute the necessary money. Mrs. Brewster consented on the condition that one Lotus Smith, her only grandchild whom she had never seen, must attend the school. Interest was heightened by the encroaching presence of one Mr. Oliver Lee Oliver and his new aviation cadet school. This growing institution needed facilities and sought to purchase Cedar Hill.

Charming Eustacia Hayworth, dean of Cedar Hill, finally made the arrangements for the arrival of Lotus Smith, feeling that at last her financial difficulties were solved. However, to the consternation of everyone, Lotus turns out to be a swash-buckling cow poke, 6'4" tall, from Skelèton Hole, Wyoming.

The remainder of the action centered around the decision to conceal the new male student's sex under petticoats and make-up, at least until after Mrs. Brewster's contribution could be assured. Interesting roles were included for Miss Carr, a frustrated poetry teacher, Miss Pooley, an indefatigable gym teacher, and Homer, the outspoken school handyman.

As all good comedies do, the tangled circumstances gradually were rearranged, with the result that Cedar Hill was finally saved by Mrs. Brewster's repentant generosity, Homer successfully wooed the rich widow, and Lotus continued his education.

Man's love for the keen thrill of competitive strife has lured him to the field of honor throughout recorded time. He trains, perfects, excels – he wins or loses – but the important thing has been the pleasure of the meeting.

More and more, competitive sports have come to occupy a reserved niche in the program of the modern school. Year after year, boys large and small from schools large and small, cavort and strain for personal and team glory and honor. Such endeavor typifies the American scene, whether it be the small fry on the asphalt playground of grammar school, the maturing youth in the shiny gymnasiums of high school, or young manhood on the hallowed gridirons of college campuses.

Our school, competing frequently beyond its class against traditional rivals who have outgrown it, has found that victories grow harder to obtain; however, when victories are achieved, they are even sweeter for their elusiveness. The past year has been a lean one in terms of football victories and basketball success; nevertheless, we are happy to present in the following pages the pictures and stories concerning some interesting events in sports. We reaffirm our conviction that the poet voiced the athlete's true creed with the words:

...Not the quarry, but the chase.

...Not the trophy, but the race.

Varsity Football:

Our varsity football squad began the 1955 season with eight returning lettermen, including Hasse, Hildebrand, Ashcom, K. Kaufman, Sabo, McCann, Balog, and Michalides. Losing the services of Al Sabo and Bert Kaufman via early-season injuries, the squad carried on with many under-classmen in key posts. Being long on spirit and short on experience, the team fared badly in the win column, losing to every team except United Joint. In spite of a rather dismal record, the gridders continued trying and learning throughout the campaign.

In the final game against traditional rival Westmont, the Stingers faced an undefeated foe, but undermanned as they were, our Jackets succumbed by a 39-0 score. Despite the poor record, the season produced valuable experience for many boys. Twelve lettermen will return to bolster next year's squad.

The J. V. squad had a comparatively successful season this year, posting a 4-2 record. The two losses came at the hands of Conemaugh Twp., 33-19, and Richland, 13-6. The four wins were recorded over Westmont, 21-7, Franklin, 8-0, Conemaugh, 19-0, and Boswell, 26-6.

Individual scoring honors went to Paul Muffley with 26 points, and Bob Weaver with 25.

The team was coached again this year by Mr. Jack Hyland. Many of the boys saw considerable action in varsity contests, providing much experience for campaigns ahead.

Jr. High Football:

Under the direction of Mr. Nyle Hershberger, our large squad of Junior High hopefuls had a respectable season, winning one, tying three, and losing two games. The record included a 6-6 stalemate with Catholic, and scoreless deadlocks with Franklin and Conemaugh Twp. Defeated by Richland, 25-6, the little Jackets reversed the tables later to the tune of 26-0. The other loss was to Shade Twp. by a 20-13 tally. General public and school interest in the Junior High gridders was evidenced by good crowds at all games.

With only two seniors on the varsity squad, our team of inexperienced underclassmen fared rather badly in district basketball circles. Compiling a record of seven wins against fourteen losses for the season, our Jackets could do no better than a fifth place finish in Tri-County League competition.

Bob Weaver led the scoring parade with 345 markers, followed by Huck Hildebrand's 312 and Sophomore Rich Sanker's 244. Despite the sub-par record, the team gained valuable experience for future hardwood campaigns.

The Ferndale Thinclads in 1955 boasted a fairly successful season as they copped one of the three top places in the majority of their meets.

The Stingers placed third in the opening quadrangular meet at Conemaugh Township. The Indians took first, with Windber and Ferndale battling it out to a close second and third.

At the annual Coaches Meet in Altoona the Yellow Jacket Track Team copped a third place in class B competition.

In Tri-County competition the Stingers again held onto third place, placing behind two top teams of the district, Johnstown and Windber.

Then the Ferndale Yellow Jackets defeated the Hilltoppers in two track meets at Price Memorial Field, with the Jacket Varsity scoring a 59-41 victory, and The Junior High a 59-37 triumph. The Stingers held a first place in almost every event.

Ferndale dropped back to snag only a fifth place in the Junior Pitt Meet as they lagged behind amidst tough competition. Adams-Summerhill copped a first in the Class B events.

The 1955 Ferndale golf team, under the supervision of Coach Nyle Hershberger, went on to hold that superb record of all wins and no losses, as they completed their seventh straight year, undefeated.

The five regulars on the team were Jim Gallagher, Bob Scheer, Bob Fetsko, Tom Balog, and Al Sabo, each of whom did a fine job in winning their matches against such teams as Jr. Pitt, Catholic High, and Ligonier. Other team members were Bob Swarny, Bob Kurtz, Bob Yeager, John Homyak, Herm Gehlman, Bill Gaspar, Ron Otto, Dick Hunt, and Ralph Skinkiss. Ferndale won their opening match by downing Jr. Pitt, 10-8, in the closest battle of the season. The next match was at Ligonier with the Stingers coming out on top, 11 1/2-6 1/2. The last two matches were played at home with Catholic Hi, with the Yellow Jackets downing their rivals twice 15-3, and 23-2.

Bob Scheer, one of our 1955 linksmen.

The Ferndale High baseball team in 1955 broke even with a 6-6 record. One of the wins came on a forfeited game by Conemaugh. The Stingers were beaten twice by Johnstown, 3-0, and 3-1. Westmont also took Ferndale in hand twice by the score of 3-1 and 5-4. Franklin was the only team the Jackets were able to beat twice, our boys winning by scores of 8-4 and 6-2.

Ferndale led the league in the number of hits per team. This was largely offset by the fact that they also had twice as many errors as any team they played. Few of the Jacket's hits went for extra bases, with Mick Zahoran hitting the team's only homer.

Huck Hildebrand, Ted Hasse, and Ted Rager were the three lone pitchers of the Stinger mound staff. Hildebrand posed a 3-2 record, while Ted Hasse had a 2-1 record and Rager a 0-3 log.

Class Prophecy

by JUDY CLARK and JILL JAMES

Herein my friends, we've tried to show,
Just how your future lives may go.
Some may be false; some may be true,
But here we've planned your lives for you.

Poor Ashcom suffers from sore feet,
For Bob's a cop who pounds a beat.

Our Harold Bagley does okay,
Makes pizza in his shop all day.

Tom Balog doctors us with guile;
Cures all the girls with just a smile.

Although dancing was not her aim,
Louise Bassett has won her fame.

Jack Berg now works for N. B. C.,
As an announcer on T. V.

Don Berkich with his gentle talk,
Returns lost lambs to our Father's flock.

Mary Jane Bevec, and no other,
Is the perfect wife and mother.

Joe Black flies through the air with ease,
An Air-force corporal, if you please!

Carolyn Blaschak we can see,
Is perched upon her boss's knee.

Jean Buckman is a happy wife,
She says there is no greater life.

Bud Bushwack now is in the stars,
With his first rocket ship to Mars.

Judy's in the bucks we see,
She owns the Clark bar factory.

Nancy Cramer's on the stage,
She reads commercials by the page.

Ed Dallape gets a hand,
For he's conducting his own band.

Ray Dallape, for a sum,
Fixes cars and makes them hum.

Dolly Decker, township girl,
Is married to an English earl.

Tom Dickson, suave and debonair,
Enjoys the life of a millionaire.

For the best beautician work by far,
Beverly Diehl deserves a star.

Barbara Dorman is a cook,
Her recipes aren't from a book.

Bob is watching the profits climb,
As Doyle and Son's work overtime.

Janet Dutko waves your hair,
In any style you'd like to wear.

"Chich" Fedornock stays quite cool,
He owns the Brownstown swimming pool.

A Fisher by the name of Cam,
Sings to you your telegram.

George Fisher tames wild beasts of prey,
Gathered from Boston to Bombay.

Howie Fisher's making money,
Broadway critics find him funny.

Ken Frieben works with might and main,
Alleviating toothache pain.

A Gehlman by the name of Bill,
Now gathers rubber in Brazil.

Maggie Golian takes dictation,
But golfing is her avocation.

A Granda who is called Rosann,
Is princess now, of Hindustan.

Anne Grimaldi's teaching gym,
Risking both her life and limb.

Paul Harper is a great sensation,
He owns the Chrysler Corporation.

Dean Hartfiel kills your little mice,
And slaughters termites for a price.

Although Ted Hasse's not employed,
This carefree guy is not annoyed.

Ray Heming's diner is on top,
The Airmont is the place to stop.

Marcia Hern is in a tizzy,
Trying to keep her pupils busy.

Hildebrand's our counter-spy,
Huck's working for the F. B. I.

John Homyak, now, has found a way,
To keep your hair from growing gray.

Linda Johnston shocked us all,
By winding up a gangster's moll.

Ken Kaufman's one we won't forget,
For soon he opens at the "Met."

Nancy Koontz, our nurse in white,
Is charming patients left and right.

Bertha Krise with her red hair,
Does all the work for our new mayor.

A gourmet thinks on first awaking,
Of Audrey Kush's yummy baking.

To have prescriptions filled with skill,
Ron Leaf's Drug Store will "fill the bill."

Hollywood has a new star,
Donna Leffler's going far.

Helen Lemansky of our group,
Is in a traveling acting troupe.

The Lux that we once knew as Pat,
Is now an agile acrobat.

Bill Majercsik drives a cab,
He does not find that life is drab.

Art critics have bestowed renown,
Upon Lee Marsh, who paints our town.

Gerry Martello is her name,
Her tennis playing brought her fame.

Judy Matus owns a farm,
A background for her wholesome charm.

Sonja Maystrovich is paid,
For every Sonja doll that's made.

Rich Michalides, for a fee,
A football game will referee.

Virginia Mlinar on this list,
Is now a noted novelist.

The Boro now is spic and span,
Ted Rager is the garbage man.

Carol Russell, clad in spangles,
From a trapeze, on high, dangles.

For the top used-car deal in town,
Jim Ryan's lot's the best around.

Al Sabo sails the seven seas,
And swabs the salty decks with ease.

Evelyn Slavik now is rich,
A millionaire she did bewitch.

Joann Slavick struts for shows,
That feature all the latest clothes.

As Speaker of the House we see,
Steve Sober has made history.

Judy Stuver will admit,
That teaching is her favorite.

Harry Teeter's growing gray,
For his fifth kid is on the way.

Robert Tercek carves tombstones,
Which rest above our moulding bones.

Florence Warfel, president,
Is head now of our government.

Terrie Weaver is a whizz,
At mixing chemicals that fizz.

Judy Yarchak, beauty queen,
Models clothes for Seventeen.

When cowboy Yeager's on his steed,
His cattle never will stampede.

We all admit that Arlene Zimmer,
Is our most curvacious swimmer.

To a real swell girl
Bruff,

To Jeanie
Best of luck in everything you do.
Remember the laughs we had.
